NOTES (from Pilkey.com):

"One thing that had always bothered me throughout this series is that I'd never written an origin story. The first epic novel began with George and Harold as best friends. I'd only written a few sentences about their previous experiences together, and I really wanted to explore their past relationship more deeply. I wanted to know how they met. Did they have any other adventures BEFORE they created Captain Underpants?"

So I thought about it. For many years I pondered these things. Eventually, I came up with a good story. But how could I tell it? It seemed strange to just release an origin story all by itself. There was no way to include it in the Captain Underpants series, because Captain Underpants wasn't around until the boys got into 4th grade. You can't have a Captain Underpants book WITHOUT Captain Underpants, can you?

For years I had wondered if I was ever going to get to tell the tale of George and Harold meeting, becoming friends, and battling against their very first enemy, Kipper Krupp.

Then I thought of Tippy. Tippy Tinkletrousers was very smart. He could build time machines. Perhaps a time machine might allow me to bring everybody back to when George and Harold were in kindergarten? Then I could tell that story!

So I wrote another story to "bookend" my tale about George and Harold and Kipper. The "bookend story" consists of the first 72 pages and the last 28 pages. It's one of the reasons why this book is so long (it's over 300 pages--- nearly three times as long as the first epic novel). Thanks to Tippy Tinkletrousers, I got to write the origin story that I'd been wanting to tell for years.

When people ask me what my favorite Captain Underpants book is, I always tell them it's this one. More specifically, it's the 200 page story-within-a-story that begins on page 73 of this book and ends on page 273. There aren't any superheroes in that story, and the tale is more grounded in reality than many of the other novels in this series, but for me, it has the most heart." -Dav Pilkey

Fun Facts:

1. Tippy Tinkletrouser's jailbird uniform has the number "84779" sewn on to the front. Mr. Krupp's uniform has the number "23669". Can you figure out the secret meaning behind this numerical system? For a hint, see #4 below.

2. George and Harold's first comic book, The Adventures of Dog Man was never meant to be anything more than a "one-shot" comic. Dav Pilkey didn't intend for it to become more than just a chapter in book #9. But shortly after the book came out, Dav began getting a lot of Dog Man fan mail. Kids really seemed to like that character (and they liked to draw him, too), so Dav began thinking of more stories about him.

In 2015, Dog Man will get his very own full-length book called Dog Man: World's Greatest Cop. Dav Pilkey is already working on a sequel.

3. Dav Pilkey is not very tech-savvy. He doesn't even OWN a cell phone. So when he illustrated this book (in which cell phones play a part in the story), he gave two of the three bullies "flip phones". Dav was unaware that "flip phone technology" had been outdated for years when he drew these illustrations. He is very sorry and promises to research things better in the future.

CAPTAIN UNDERPANTS AND THE TERRIFYING RETURN OF TIPPY TINKLETROUSERS (CAPTAIN UNDERPANTS #9) BY DAV PILKEY PDF

Tra-la-laaa! Captain Underpants is back in an all-new epic adventure that's the zaniest, funniest, outrageousest, and time-travelingiest yet!

When we last saw our heroes, George and Harold, they were under arrest and headed for prison. Then Harold foolishly uttered the fateful words "What could be worse than going to jail for the rest of our lives?" and changed the course of human history.

In this ninth epic novel, Dav Pilkey takes readers back in time to the carefree days of kindergarten, when the worst thing George and Harold had to face was NOT evil mad scientists or alien cafeteria ladies but a sixth-grade bully named Kipper Krupp, the nephew of their clueless school principal. And because George and Harold don't actually invent Captain Underpants until fourth grade, the two clever kindergartners are on their own -- using their brains to beat the bully.

Hold on to your UNDERPANTS -- the Captain is back!

"HILARIOUS AND ENTERTAINING!"

By Author/Reviewer Geri Ahearn

Dav Pilkey delivers another fun-filled story in the ninth Captain Underpants novel. In this funny adventure, the boys have no choice but to face Kipper Krupp, the big bully, on their own. Tormented by Kipper in the past, the boys create a clever plan to defeat the bully, and this plan is filled with many unexpected upcoming events to finally seek revenge. 'Captain Underpants and the Terrifying Return of Tippy Tinkletrousers' will have any child laughing-out-loud as it entertains throughout. A triumph in this hilarious series, enjoyable, and Recommended for young readers!

Longest book of the series

By Norway Mom

I read this book aloud for my tween sons. We're fans of the series, and we all enjoyed it very much. The pranks were pretty funny and elaborate, and the story could be used as a jumping off point for a conversation about bullying. Do Harold and George go too far in bullying the bullies? What can you do when the principal (or another grown-up) ignores bullying in real life?

This book (#9) is by far the longest of the series at 303 pages. By comparison, "Wrath of the Wicked Wedgie Woman" (#5) is the second longest book we own in the series, at 170 pages. Perhaps that's why we didn't like #9 quite as much as usual - it seemed in any case that the first 10 chapters were a little slow.

I must add: don't judge a book by its title. As a mom, I was very negative to the series before my boys got their first book of the series as a gift. We read it, and I liked it a million times more than I expected.

The Real EPIC Captain Underpants Book

By Nicola Mansfield

Every Captain Underpants book is called an "epic novel", well, this time Pilkey has certainly presented fans with "the" Epic Captain Underpants novel. It is huge for a start (over 300 pages) and the plot is so convoluted it contains about three stories in one! This has got to be the best book in the entire series and I've already read book 10, but this one makes me want to read #10 again just to follow what happens next. After six years between books 8 & 9 being published, Pilkey put everything he had into this book; it is absolutely hilarious. Taking us into a future that was meant to be, a future that could have been and the one that really happened. We also go way back to when George and Harold were in kindergarten and first met. The majority of the book takes place within this storyline and is fantastic! I just loved it!
