Cannot Recommend At All --Very Disappointing

By Mary McKinnon

Geez! I used to love Kim Michael's books, at least the ones written before 2004, but "Unmasking the Ego" is a terribly confusing book that made me cringe with all of the falsehoods presented. If you are a sincere spiritual seeker, you would do well to steer clear of this book full of so many untruths that God himself must be rolling his eyes and saying, "Who is this author and why are you misleading my children?"

In this book, Kim Michaels wants to emphasize that there is no right or wrong, and that "the Ascended Masters see no person as bad--or good for that matter." But, wait. If no one is good or bad, then is Jesus the same as Hitler? Kim Michaels writes that all you have to do is raise your consciousness, and you can do whatever you want and you do not have to take responsibility for your actions.

Mr. Michaels is spreading a lie here that good and evil don't exist, and so...does no act have any consequences? Can we do whatever we want? Should we just let evil reign and not do anything about it? That doesn't sound right to me, and in fact makes me question the consciousness of this author that he would insist and insist that what we do, in the end, doesn't matter, as long as we transcend that state of consciousness. That would make for a very selfish world, an uncaring world, and I would advise the spiritual seeker to not waste their money or their time on this kind of malarkey.
